

Frequently Asked Questions : Police Officer Examination

When is an examination offered for Entry-level Police Officer/Deputy Sheriff?

Most written examinations for Entry-level Police Officer/Deputy Sheriff prepared by the New York State Department of Civil Service and administered by municipal civil service agencies for local jurisdictions are offered each November.

How do I know which local agencies are offering a Police Officer/Deputy Sheriff examination this November?

Each of the 96 municipal civil service agencies has different needs when determining whether or not to hold a particular exam for a particular year. Civil Service eligible lists are established by municipal civil service agencies for a duration of one to four years. Therefore, a particular municipal civil service agency may hold an examination every year, while another municipal civil service agency may hold the examination only once every four years. Because the need to hold the exam is a local determination, you must contact the municipal civil service agency that has jurisdiction over the location where you are interested in taking the examination and obtaining employment.

How can I contact municipal civil service agencies to inquire if they will be participating in this November's Police Officer/Deputy Sheriff exam?

focus their examination preparation upon the information described in this portion of the announcement.

Who would I contact to obtain specific information regarding the Police Officer/Deputy Sheriff eligible list?

Information on the establishment of the eligible list, duration of the eligible list, canvasses and vacancies must be obtained from the municipal civil service agency which held the examination and where you were a candidate in the examination.

What age limits are there for Police Officer/Deputy Sheriff?

New York State's maximum age for employing law enforcement officers was enacted by the New York State Legislature in April 1999. Section 58 of Civil Service Law was amended to establish a maximum age limit of not more than 35 years of age for provisional or permanent appointment as a competitive class Police Officer or Deputy Sheriff. The maximum age established in Section 58 requires the candidate must not have reached his/her 35th birthday on or before the date of the written examination.

Is the age requirement for Police Officer/Deputy Sheriff examinations discriminatory?

The age requirement for Police Officer/Deputy Sheriff in New York State is in conformance with the Federal Age Discrimination in Employment Act (ADEA). The ADEA was amended by Congress on September 30, 1996, to provide an exemption for certain age limitations in state or local law for the hiring of Firefighters and law enforcement officers. The exemption allows states to establish age requirements for positions such as Police Officer and Deputy Sheriff.

Is there any circumstance which would allow an extension or a waiver to the age requirement?

Candidates who are veterans of the armed forces may have time spent on military duty, up to a maximum of six years, as defined in Section 243 (10-a) of the Military Law, deducted from their age for purposes of determining whether they meet the age requirement. Beyond this exemption for Veterans there is no ability for a municipal civil service agency or the New York State Civil Service Commission to provide a waiver to the age requirements.
